Meeting the attainment challenge of Scotland’s children

At Aberlour we are committed to helping children flourish – at home, in their communities and at school. But for many children, learning in the classroom is a challenge. We can help.

Aberlour offers flexible attainment-focused interventions, designed to help pupils fulfil their potential.

Our solutions will help you explore pupils’ needs and offer targeted, holistic support to them and their families, ultimately increasing attendance, wellbeing and levels of achievement.

We will design a package of support, tailored to the needs of your school. This could include:

- Graphic facilitation sessions with pupils, parents and teachers to explore their needs in an engaging, visual way
- A family support worker based in your school
- Group work sessions tailored to groups of pupils and parents

“Aberlour attends St. Fergus Primary to work with children who need support in self-regulation and understanding and dealing with emotions. They have supported both in and out of the classroom, supporting children with schoolwork, events and activities, to help develop some aspects of emotional literacy, sensory or motor skills. They can also support transitions from school to home.”

“Staff are skilled at supporting the young children and families within our local community, particularly with transitions. This is excellent and supports our school staff, ensuring relationships are maintained with families.”

Head Teacher, Falkirk

Aberlour will work in partnership with you, to close the attainment gap for children in your school.

We will also monitor and evaluate our attainment outcomes for you and report back to you regularly on progress, thereby removing the burden from your staff.

We will design a bespoke package with your specific budget in mind.

If you are unsure what support you want to introduce, a one-off graphic facilitation session could help you to identify and understand your pupils' needs and concerns, through an engaging consultation process. Following on from this, a dedicated plan can be built for your school.

A graphic facilitation session ranges in cost from £335 - £500, depending on its nature. We can also train your staff to deliver sessions too.

“Rebecca felt both mum and dad had new families and she did not fit in. She was able to tell her story and watch her journey unfold through graphic facilitation. Seeing her journey as a colourful, visual record helped her to understand aspects of life in a more positive light and enabled her to come up with new coping strategies.”
