The figure displays a sequence of 12 monthly calendars, starting from December 2025 and ending with January 2027. Each calendar is a 6x7 grid where the first row represents the days of the week (Su, M, Tu, W, Th, F, Sa) and the subsequent rows represent the dates. The calendars are color-coded by month: December 2025 (grey header), January (green), February (green), March (green), April (blue), May (blue), June (blue), July (blue), August (blue), September (blue), October (green), November (blue), December (blue), and January 2027 (grey header). The dates are highlighted in various colors (green, blue, grey) to represent different categories or themes. For example, in January 2026, the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd are green, while the 4th through 31st are blue. In February 2026, the 1st through 7th are green, and the 8th through 28th are blue. This pattern continues throughout the year, with different combinations of green and blue highlighting specific dates in each month.
